

Production Team Profile

Philip H. Scarborough Executive Producer/Director

Director/Editor Philip Scarborough began his love affair with film and cinematic language at the rough & tumble age eleven years old, and he hasn't slowed down since. After graduating from the University of Southern Mississippi School of Film in the mid 90s, he immediately found work in commercial and documentary film production.

Over the years, he has produced, edited, and directed hundreds of productions, from documentary videos to TV commercials, corporate videos and presentations, and much more. His commercial clients include brands such as Time Warner Cable, C Spire, Viking Range Corporation, and Singing River Health Systems, and virtually every large ad agency in the state, including Maris, West and Baker; Lightning Bottle; The Circlot Agency; The Ramey Agency; GodwinGroup; Frontier Strategies; The Mann Agency, Broderick Advertising; Ad Agent, and the Gibbes Company. He has won dozens of American Advertising Awards (ADDY's) for his commercial projects, including many Best of Show awards.

Philip has led production teams for many public interest groups as well, including the Mississippi Center for Justice, William Winter Institute for Racial Reconciliation, Women's Fund of Mississippi, and Delta 180, an organization dedicated to improving livelihoods in the the Mississippi Delta region.

His most recent personal film, Dear Johnny Reb, was featured in a wide variety of film festivals, including the San Diego Black Film Festival, San Francisco Black Film Festival, Fort Worth Indie Film Showcase, Show Me Justice Film Festival, Carrboro Film Fest, and more. The film won honored with awards at the Williamsburg International Film Competition, Magnolia Independent Film Festival, Anaheim International Film Festival, Mindfield Film Festival, and the Albuquerque Black Truth Film Festival among others.

Philip is a founding member of the Crossroads Film Society, and contributed to the creation of the perennial Crossroads Film Festival, the largest such event in Mississippi.
